What is Cryotherapy?

During a local Cryotherapy session the affected area is treated to nitrogen vapour of up to -160°C and the skin temperature is brought down to about 4°C . The treated area compensates by heating itself through speeding up cellular metabolism, releases enhanced levels of endorphins and drastically increasing blood flow, which in turn accelerates your body's own natural healing. It can assist in the treatment of the following conditions:

- Sport Injuries
- Chronic pain
- Tennis elbow
- Osteoarthritis
- Plantar fasciitis
- Post-surgery
- Fibromyalgia
- Frozen
- Psoriasis
- Insomnia
- Swelling
- MS & Gout
- Shoulder
- Postural
- Anti-ageing
- Inflammation
- Tendinitis
- Arthritis
- hypotension
- Skin tightening

RECOVERY

Recovery - Injuries & Chronic Pain

The increased circulation of healthy nutrients is a great form of treatment for arthritic joints, lower back pain, neck pain and sports injuries. In fact, just about any musculoskeletal condition can be successfully treated. It is also ideal 72 hours post-injury or surgery for swelling, bruising and pain.
